Dear Charlie:

As you know from our talk last week, we have been organizing a fifteen-month research program which will soon be completed and which needs a level of critical review for gross errors of omission or commission commensurate with the investment we will be putting into the actual work.

To do this we are planning to call in our senior consultants in a number

25X1A

We have planned this for the second week in December and wonder if you could join us for four days, December 10 through 13, which will include further processing and 2-1/2 days of conference.

There are other items on the agenda which I think you will enjoy going over also, but which we can take up later when arrangements are firm.

Could you let us know as soon as possible whether or not this conference or any portion of it can be fitted into your schedule?

I was very much stimulated by my discussions with your people on Monday and look forward to increasing the flow of material and ideas between our shops. Please remember me to [redacted] and thank 25X1A them again for giving me such a delightful and rewarding time.

Sincerely,
